S/021/022 Iron County

Gentlemen:

On July 11, 1994, I received an inquiry from Ted Carter regarding bonding for the above numbered lease. I am writing to advise you that the notice of intent to commence exploration/mining which you filed with the Utah Division of Oil, Gas & Mining does not satisfy the notification requirements held separately by this office.

The Utah School and Institutional Trust Lands Administration (SITLA), as Lessor, requires that you notify this office at least 60 days prior to commencing operations upon the lands. Failure to do so is a breach of the lease agreement and will subject the lease to cancellation. I am enclosing an instruction sheet for providing notification to SITLA. Please submit the requested information as soon as possible and do not commence any operations upon the lands until approved by this office.

An archaeological survey and a reclamation bond for the area of disturbance is generally required prior to approving your plan of operations. These requirements may be determined in our review of your proposal.

For your information, I have been contacted by the firm of Olsen, McIff & Chamberlain on behalf of Karl Truman and have provided the firm with similar instructions.

Please contact me if you have any questions regarding these requirements.

Sincerely,

JOHN T. BLAKE
